

Xelerator

Xelerator is an incredible program that can change the speed of your game. It is one of the first and best programs for game speed adjustment. It can adjust the speed of almost all of the games on Windows. In the meantime, it also ensures to maintain the smoothness after the speed is changed. It can adjust the speed of a game to the quickest or slowest possible. The ease of use and stability provides the best user experience. In addition, Xelerator can also adjust the speed of any programs, such as multimedia playback, flash, web page, etc. It is an interesting program for a variety of users for a variety of programs.

(2.22mb)

($14.99)

How to Use Xelerator

For Xelerator running on Windows 98, Windows 98SE and Windows ME, it is straightforward. You only need to set the slide bar to the speed you want. The speed change applies to all processes. Please note that some of the games prohibit speed change during play. If so, you can set the speed and then play the game.

For Xelerator running on Windows 2000, Windows XP, Windows Server 2003 and later versions, you can set the speed on specified processes and the speed change doesn't affect other processes. This has greatly improved the stability of the program. There are a few ways to specify the processes you want to change the speed,

1. There are processes listed under the table Process without speed change, select the one you want, click Add. It will be added to the table Process with speed change.
2. Click Browser button (the button with …), select an executable program (*.exe). The selected program will be added to the table Process with speed change and launched.
3. Manually type a path and program name under pull-down menu and click Run.
4. The pull-down menu has a list of previously launched programs that you can choose.

Systems Supported

It runs on Windows 98, Windows 98SE, Windows ME, Windows 2000, Windows XP and Windows Server 2003.

How to Purchase

Download the program to your PC and install. The unregistered copy has 15-day trial period. After you have made the purchase at Mobiwad Web site or other Web site, send the computer code to support@mobiward.com and Mobiwad will send the registration code to you by e-mail. The computer code shows up after you launch Xelerator.